

Plaza Technology

Free Chromebook laptops and internet hotspots available for checkout from Denver Public Library. Supplies are limited.

Chromebooks, a type of laptop computer, can help you study in online courses, check email, use online resources and more. If you don't have an internet connection at home, hotspots, that provide free internet access, can help you get connected.

The first step is getting Denver Public Library card.

To find out how, contact Plaza staff by calling (720) 865-2362 (please leave a message) or emailing plaza@denverlibrary.org.

For help in another language, please leave a message with your name, phone number and the language you speak. We will call you back with an interpreter.
